CHAMBERLIN ATTENDS

Fifty Other Fliers Give Exhibitions of Kinds of Flying

By R. D. M'MICHAEL
Star Staff Correspondent

Mansfield, May 10—In a program of aviation events and one accident in which three were hurt, thousands of north central residents saw Col. Clarence Chamberlin, noted transatlantic flier, formally open the 180-acre Mansfield airport north of the city Wednesday afternoon. Colonel Chamberlin and fifty other fliers inaugurated three days of the new airport, there being more than 20 airplanes and the Good-year "Pilgrim" here.

Mrs. Harry Young and Mrs. Harry Young of Mansfield were the victims of the accident which occurred when Charles Zimmerman, of this city, crashed a fence in taking off and the plane struck the three by-standers. Mrs. Young was seriously injured and amputation of her right leg was necessary, General Hospital officials say. Mr. Young and the pilot were not badly hurt. Cal Williams and Loren Cook, who were in the plane with Zimmerman, were unhurt. The pilot also escaped injury. The plane was badly wrecked.

10 Army Planes

With weather conditions splendid, the pilots gave exhibitions of flying. Included in the air maneuvers which preceded the arrival of Colonel Chamberlin at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, were exhibitions by U. S. army fliers from Dayton and Cleveland. Ten army planes were here for the dedication of the new airport.

Colonel Chamberlin showed his skill as a flier when he arrived from Akron. He staged a great exhibition of flying as a parade of several Mansfield club men moved onto the field. More than 550 of the Civic Commission paraded to the airport for a noon luncheon where Maj. Clarence M. Young of Washington, D. C., director of aviation, spoke.

After Colonel Chamberlin's arrival, exhibition flights at the airport continued and exhibitions of aviation art during the afternoon. Colonel Chamberlin was escorted to the city from the airport after his arrival. Hundreds of persons were taken up by the various fliers.

Mayors Attend

Mayor J. Earl Ports of Mansfield headed a reception committee which greeted the fliers. Included in this committee were officials from Elyria, Akron, Bucyrus and other cities in the district.

PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDER OF WOMAN

Magazine Salesman Tells Police He Shot Mrs. Wolfred After Argument

Pontiac, Mich., May 10—John Karsher, magazine salesman of Pontiac, Ill., this morning pleaded guilty to the first degree murder of Mrs. Frank Wolford. Mrs. Wolford was shot and killed at her home here yesterday where Karsher was visiting.

Karsher walked into police station here yesterday noon, shortly after the alleged murder, and told police that he had killed Mrs. Wolford at her home following an argument.

Mrs. Wolford was found dead in her home with a bullet wound above her left eye. Her neck and jawbone were also fractured, according to police.

The magazine salesman, in his confession to police, said that the slain woman obtained her husband's revolver during an argument and that he took it away and shot her.

Following the entering of his plea of guilty, attorneys for the confessed slayer announced that their defense would be "self defense."

Karsher was bound over to the Richland County grand jury.

ASKED TO QUIT

COLONEL STEWART

COL. STEWART WON'T COMMENT ON REQUEST

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Demands Head of Indiana Standard Quit Post

Chicago, May 10—Col. Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, arrived in Chicago today without comment upon the demand of John D. Rockefeller Jr., that he resign "for the best interests of the company."

Colonel Stewart left the train at a South Side station without waiting for it to arrive at the main terminal. He hurried into an automobile and sped away.

The chairman of the board did remark, however, that a statement attributed to him that he would "say plenty" upon his arrival in Chicago, was false.

MOVE TO GAIN HOLD

Financial Leaders See Rockefeller Seeking Old Control

New York, May 10—The demand of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., that Col. R. W. Stewart resign from his post as chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, was viewed by financial leaders in Wall Street today as the first move by the Rockefellers in a campaign to regain the position of leadership in companies formerly dominated by them.

In a statement issued here, Rockefeller requested Colonel Stewart's resignation because of his recent testimony before the Senate Public Lands Committee in the Teapot Dome inquiry. The oil magnate declared he "had lost confidence in Colonel Stewart's leadership." The request for the resignation was based on Stewart's admission to the Teapot Dome committee that he had shared in the Continental Trading Company's fund to the extent of $750,000.

An answer by Stewart to Rockefeller's ultimatum was promised today at his office in Chicago. Although the colonel assured Rockefeller several

BEATEN AND BURIED ALIVE, SHE DECLARES

Wife of Los Angeles Man in Serious Condition After Attack

Los Angeles, May 10—Mrs. Marie Billings, 36, is in a serious condition at a hospital today after having been beaten and buried alive in a semi-conscious condition, according to her story to the sheriff's office.

She said a man came to her home and tried to sell her some real estate. Suddenly, she declared, he struck her over the head with a blunt club.

Sheriff's office investigators said it appeared that the woman's assailant had taken her in an automobile into the Puente Hills, laid her in a shallow grave and covered her with loose dirt, in the belief that she was dead.

Mrs. Billings' hands and feet had been bound. She said she was semi-conscious when placed in the grave, but could make no outcry.

Later she freed herself and struggled out of her make-shift grave. A taxi driver found her on a road a mile east of Whittier, seeking aid. She still wore the blanket which had been wrapped around her by her assailant.

Mrs. Billings is the wife of Howard B. Billings, head of the Billings Manufacturing Co.

CAMPAIGN FUND FOR AL SMITH OVER $100,000

New York Manager Reveals Figures to Senate Investigating Committee

COVERNOR QUIZZED

Declares He Personally Has Done Nothing About His Drive

New York, May 10—Contributions to the Governor Smith-for-president campaign total $103,310 and the biggest individual contributor is William F. Kenny, a Brooklyn contractor, who contributed $70,000, of which $40,000 was a loan, it was testified here today before the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures.

The testimony was given by George R. Van Nammee, a public service commissioner, who is in charge of Smith's campaign in New York State.

Governor Smith previously testified before the committee today that he had authorized no one to act as chairman or treasurer of any national campaign fund in his behalf. He said he understood that some of his friends in New York City had started a Smith presidential boom but he personally had "done nothing about it."

Smokes As He Talks

The governor said that any money spent in his behalf in New York City could be explained by Van Nammee. Personally, the governor had taken no active interest in the finances of friends who had interested themselves in his behalf.

The governor smoked a cigar as he testified.

Senator Steiwer, Republican, of Oregon, the chairman of the committee, then questioned the governor. First he read a telegram to the committee from Governor Smith dated May 3 in which Smith said he had authorized no one to act as a national chairman or treasurer of any Smith organization.

"I can only say what I said in the telegram," said Smith in his deep voice. "I know of no activities in any state beyond New York. In New York a committee of friends have interested themselves in my behalf. Mr. Van Nammee can explain what expenditures they have incurred. I personally do not know."

"Have you done anything about your

The Real Estate Board has also given its assistance to the Garden Club in carrying out the proposed improvements at the lake in McKinley Park. Shrubbery is to be planted around the edge of the lake. Work is expected to be started soon.

SENSATIONAL ROUND GIVES JURADO LEAD

American Golfers Pass from Limelight of British Open

Sandwich, Eng., May 10—Flashing another epic round of 71, Jose Jurado, overnight sensation from the Argentine, took the play away from Bill Mehlhorn, Walter Hagen and the Americans in general by topping the more than half completed second round of the British Open Golf championship today with a 36-hole total of 145. Hagen, replying with a fine 73 today, was in possession of second position at this point with an aggregate of 148.

Mehlhorn, blowing up like a premature blast, took 41 strokes on the last nine holes to score a 78 and tie with Archie Compston, arch-rival of Hagen, for third position at this juncture.

Tommy Armour, American champion, was definitely eliminated from further play in the tournament by his 80 of today which gave him an aggregate of 161, more than the forbidden 15 strokes behind the leader.

Jim Barnes retrieved his bad round of yesterday with a 73 today but he was well back from the pace of [illegible] Compston who [illegible] this point.

RAILROADER IS HURT IN FALL FROM TRAIN

Erie Brakeman Found Unconscious Along Track in Yards Here

DRAGGED AFTER FALL

Accident Victim, Now at Hospital, Is Expected To Recover

Arthur E. Merriman, 30, of 381 Allenest, Huntington, Ind., sustained a severe contusion of the left shoulder, body contusions, and injuries to his back, hip and the left side of his face about midnight last night when he fell off an Erie freight train and was dragged several feet. The accident occurred near the west end of the Erie train arrived here from Huntington.

The injured man was rushed to City Hospital in the M. T. Gunder ambulance.

Merriman's injuries, although painful, were not serious attending physicians said today.

MINE TRUCE URGED BY ORAL DAUGHERTY

Forced To Give Talk Before Mass Meeting of 3,000 Miners

Athens, May 10—A truce between miners and operators of the striking Hocking Valley district "on a sound economic basis until such time as Congress approves of legislation to fix a permanent wage scale," was urged by Oral Daugherty, deposed leader of the United Mine Workers sub-district, before a mass meeting of 3,000 miners here last night.

Daugherty hurled charges of "rotten politics with in union" at officials of the United Mine Workers. He also criticized the manner in which they conducted the Hocking Valley strike.

While Daugherty had no official place upon the program, cries for a speech from him came from the audience during the course of a talk by Philip Murray, vice president of the national organization of United Mine Workers. Murray was forced to conclude his speech and give Daugherty the platform.

Two airplanes flying over the meeting grounds dropped handbills into the crowd, praising Daugherty's attitude in the coal strike. Daugherty disclaimed any knowledge of their author or distributors.

C., D. & M. WINS IN SHOVEL CO. POWER SUIT

Court of Appeals Gives Decision in Controversy Over Rates

PETITION DISMISSED

Electric Company's Interpretation of Contract Correct, Judges Rule

Another victory has been won by the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co., in the court suit brought by the Marion Steam Shovel Co., in a dispute over rates for electric power.

This became known today when a report was received at the clerk of courts' office here from district Court of Appeals at Lima announcing that the petition of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., has been dismissed and its motion for a new trial overruled.

The verdict of the Court of Appeals came following deliberations of the Court on arguments and evidence submitted at a hearing Oct. 31, 1927.

First Victory

The C., D. & M. scored its first victory in Court of Common Pleas, when Judge Scofield found for the C., D. & M.

The suit was the outgrowth of an interpretation placed upon a clause in the contract under which the C., D. & M. furnishes electric power to the shovel plant. The contract was entered into in 1921 under the old management of the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

When the new management took over the industry in 1927 the clause regarding a credit of two-thirtieths of the monthly bill for interruption in service was interpreted by the new Shovel Co. officials to mean that this credit should be given each time the power went off, even though only for a few minutes. The C., D. & M. maintained that the credit was due only when the power was off for a day.

Check Is Refused

In computing a monthly payment last summer the Shovel Co. based its figures on the new interpretation. When the C., D. & M. refused to accept the check and threatened to shut off the power from the factory, officials of the Shovel Co. brought suit in Common Pleas Court to force the electric company to accept the new interpretation. After

ALLEGED CONFESSION INTRODUCED IN CASE

Herren Tells Officials He Had No Intention of Killing Woman

New Philadelphia, May 10—The confession of William Herron, on trial for the murder of his sweetheart, Viola May, last February, was today introduced in court by the state over objections of defense attorneys.

Herron's confession, alleged to have been made to Sheriff Abe Laird of Tuscarawas County, and witnessed by Dr. Paul J. Alfaugh, jail physician, admitted that he had choked Miss May during an argument over his attentions to her on a night automobile ride.

The confession was introduced today while Sheriff Laird, who conducted the investigation into Miss May's death, was on the stand. Objections by defense attorneys that the confession was inadmissible as evidence because it had been signed by Herron while under the influence of a drug administered to relieve the pain of a dislocated shoulder were overruled.

Herron's confession alleged that he had choked Miss May while the two were sitting in his car and that he had no intention of killing her. When he found her body lifeless, he became frantic and threw it into the Tuscarawas River, it said.

Spectacular and Colorful Program Delights Large Crowd at May Festival

High School Entertainment at Grand Theater Classed as One of Best Ever Given Here; Beautiful Costumes, Artistic Dancing Are Outstanding Features

Before an audience that filled to capacity the auditorium of the Grand Theater Miss Katherine Cymon, resplendently attired in a long flowing robe of gold cloth, with Queen Elizabeth collar of stiff gold lace and train of purple, last night was crowned Queen of the May.

The ceremony was a feature of the sixth May Festival given by girls of the physical education department of Harding High School under direction of Miss Rachel C. McAfee, supervisor.

The festival was generally pronounced one of the most spectacular and cleverly designed performances of the kind ever presented here.

The entire program suggested the splendor of a medieval court, the maids of honor and attendants also wearing stately robes of silver and gold cloth with headdress of the same material.

The address of coronation was given by Miss Mary Titsworth, who completed the ceremony by placing a crown of jewels on the May Queen's head.

Opening Processional

The May Queen entered in a processional attended by Miss Titsworth, her ladies in waiting, Misses Thelma Burton, Dorothy Zieg, Helen Ward and Virginia Heffelfinger, by May Dolls, the children of the court and by senior girls in costumes of white satin basque waist, full skirt, and garland of roses.

After the coronation ceremony the dance and festival program, which followed crowning of the May Queen was given in the form of a health masque, "Pandora," arranged and directed by Miss McAfee.

Miss Thelma Burton played an outstanding role as Pandora. Her dancing, facial expressions, and the clever manner with which she interpreted her part, were decidedly unusual, verging on the professional rather than amateur.

In a series of dances in which nearly 50 girls took part, the story of Pandora was enacted. The first act took place in the "Grave of Innocence," represented by a garden scene and tall baskets of flowers. Pandora playing with her maidens is delighted when Mercury enters and presents her with Toledo, May 10—Warning to "everybody," including political candidates and contributors to political campaigns, that Ohio's corrupt Practices Act "will be enforced" was voiced here today by Attorney General Edward C. Turner, addressing the Women's Republican Club of Lucas County.

"Where any candidate indulges in the same practices that have obtained in the past—that of spending, either directly or indirectly, in excess of the statutory limitation, whether from his own money, or from contributions—prosecutions will follow," Turner asserted.

Turner said that, as a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, he personally will not accept any contributions "from anyone, either directly, or through a committee." "I shall not spend a total of more than $5,000 for both the nomination and election, if nominated," he said. "My own books and records will be open to inspection at any time, both before and after the nomination."

Hokum Masquerading a Real Thing O.S.U. Man Says

Marion Star Bureau
Ohio State University

Columbus, O., May 10—An infringement on the principles of the original psychology being made by persons who have only the slightest idea of what the study is concerned, is the charge made by Professor Harold E. Burtt, noted Ohio State University psychologist.

"There is a great deal of literature in circulation at the present time that tries to pass under the name of psychology, but it is all 'bunk'," the Ohio State educator maintains. "This 'hokum' tells of sure ways of obtaining a good memory or how to make a success in business, but it has no connection in any way whatever with the study of psychology today."

Psychology first started as an "arm-chair" practice and later was established on scientific principles that now have practical value if used in the right way, according to Professor Burtt.

Professor Burtt believes that a great amount of progress, however, has been made in the field in curing mental sickness, by conditioning and suggestion, rudiments of psychology.

"In recent years, law has found a place for psychology in the vein that simple principles determined in the psychological laboratory can be used to test the soundness of a witness' story," he declares. "By using certain apparatus familiar to the psychologist, it can be determined nine times out of 10 when a person is testifying falsely."

While it is impossible to make a success in business by the use of psychology, the applied subject has been a great help to the business man, Professor believes. This line centers around the efficiency tests of applicants for certain positions, which seldom fail.

Members of Fair Board Discuss Plans for Fourth of July Meet

Ashley, May 10 — The barns and stables at the north and south of the Ashley Fairground will soon be remodeled in accordance with the Fair building program adopted for this year.

As a tribute to nationally known Delaware county breeders of horses, the First Annual Horse Show will be staged at the right of the entrance drive to the fairgrounds, where in former years the race horses were placed. All race horses will in future be stabled at the south of the grounds.

At a meeting of the Fair Board Tuesday night J. W. Hanover was named as a special committee in charge of the extensive remodeling work will be done next month.

The Ashley Fair and Junior Fair premium lists and catalogues will go to the printer this week, the contract being awarded to the Ashley Star. The annual Fourth of July races were discussed during the interest shown in this annual event which attracts large crowds it has been proposed to offer much larger purses to the horsemen who participate; fair officials will confer with local business men who annually sponsor the uptown celebration the evening of the Fourth.

CHAUTAUQUA CHANGE URGED

New Location Favored by Committee in Hardin County

Kenton, May 10—That the annual eight-day Hardin County Chautauqua this year should be held at Lake Idlewild resort, north of Kenton, instead of at Bell's Park on the southwestern edge of the city, is the finding of the special committee named by William Kraus, president of the chautauqua association, to investigate the change.

Upon recommendations of the committee, including Carl Price, A. P. Hord and C. C. Phillips, opinion of ticket subscribers who have guaranteed the chautauqua this season is being asked through postcard ballots.

Majority of returns received to date also favors the change, it is said.

The chautauqua has operated at a loss during the last few years and the change would mean a material cut in the overhead expense now entailed in conducting the programs at Bells. This is one of the strongest recommendations listed by the committee for the change.

World Friendship Luncheon Feature of Program Today at American Peace Meeting

Foreign Statesmen Will Address Meeting Tonight. Canadian Minister Cites Concord Between U. S. and Canada as Ideal Peace

Cleveland, May 10—A world friendship luncheon was to feature today's program of the American Peace Society centennial convention, to be held under the auspices of women's patriotic and social organizations. Tsunoo Matsuoka, Japan's minister to the United States, L. Astrom, Finland's minister to this country, and Justice Alexis de Boer, representing Hungary, were to be the principal speakers.

Tonight the eighth general assembly of the peace conference will be held at Public Auditorium when many prominent foreign statesmen will address the audience.

Vincent Massey, Canadian minister to Washington, at last night's session of the convention cited the "concord that exists and has existed for more than a century between the United States and Canada as the ideal peace."

Points Way to Peace

"This friendship, which has existed for more than a century between the United States and Canada," Massey told his hearers, "across 1,000 miles of boundary line unmarked by a single fort or a single gun, points the way to peace among all nations."

Massey told how this peace between the "friendly neighbors" is governed by an international joint commission which has never yet been disobeyed.

Last night's meeting was the first since the present conference began which has not been interrupted by heckling. Dr. Jesse Holmes, professor of philosophy of Swarthmore College, in a speech yesterday, accused peace delegates of timidity. Referring to Tuesday night's outbreak when several persons were arrested by police for heckling speakers, Dr. Holmes said: "I notice some of the speakers here have said they were not militarists, and then in the next breath added that they weren't pacifists, either. Well, I am a pacifist. I am opposed to wars and war making, and I make no exception whatever for the so-called war of self defense."

Let Him Talk

Referring to communism in America, Dr. Holmes added:

"The thing for you to do is to invite the spokesman for communists and get your friends to come and hear. But—if you shut him up a lot of people will think he's right. Let him talk and they'll know he isn't."

Other speakers Wednesday night included Don Orestes Ferrara, Cuba's ambassador to the United States, who brought greetings of the recent Pan-American Conference at Havana; Dr. Elizabeth Wallace of the University of Chicago and Arch C. Lumph, past president of Rotary International.

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle-bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottle.

W. B. Caldwell, M.D. AT AGE 83

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.—Adv.

WOMAN FINED $75 IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Mrs. Dora McGregory Found Guilty of Resisting an Officer

A suspended fine of $75 and costs was drawn by Mrs. Dora McGregory, Scarbro, in Municipal Court yesterday afternoon, when she was found guilty of a charge of resisting an officer.

In a raid by state prohibition men and city police at the McGregory home several weeks ago, Mrs. McGregory is said to have attacked the officers after she had made several unsuccessful attempts to destroy a quantity of liquor which the officers had found in a pitcher. She is also said to have procured a revolver from a drawer in the room, the gun being taken from her before it could be used. She pleaded guilty to a illegal possession charge and was fined $100 and costs, which she paid.

She denied the charge of resisting an officer and her hearing was set for yesterday afternoon.

DISTRICT ENLISTS 26 MEN IN NAVY

Caledonia and Bucyrus Men Included, Report at Local Station Shows

Twenty-six men were enlisted from this district during the first weeks recruiting for the Navy to fill the May quota of first enlistments, it was announced at the recruiting headquarters today. Two men were sent from the substation, in charge of Chief Turret Captain John B. Shanks, located in American Legion Dugout.

Clyde Bennet Grize of Caledonia and Charles Dean Smith of Bucyrus were the men sent from the Station here. Both Glaze and Smith were transferred to the Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, Ill., where they will remain for eight weeks to receive training in the duties of an enlisted man on board a modern man- of war.

While undergoing this training they will make their choice of the trade they desire to follow after leaving the training station.

Both men will have an opportunity to take any one of the more than 50 trades required for service on the modern ships of the fleet doing duty in all parts of the world.

There is still time to get in on this quota and when it is filled there will be no more enlistments from here until June 1, Captain Shanks announced. Full information on these Naval Academy Preparatory Classes can be had at the recruiting office here.

Another Marion Lady Finds Relief

Results Obtained from Sykodoner Unbelievable — Nature's Own Method.

Mrs. Viola Wilson, 197 Davids St., Marion, Ohio, suffered with pain in side, and other symptoms that made health and comfort impossible. Being in a position where she daily met many other chronic sufferers taking the Sykodoner treatments, she, too, gave it a trial. One or two treatments caused all pain and suffering to disappear, to the great surprise and astonishment of all concerned.

MRS. VIOLA WILSON
197 Davids St., Marion, Ohio.

Ninety-seven out of every one hundred people suffer from some minor or serious ailment. The failure of the body to rid itself of surplus by-products and waste, which decay due to body heat, is responsible for more human misery than any other cause. Thousands are not securing the utmost out of life because of arrested elimination—causing all forms of waste to decay and poison the body locally and in general. The speediest way to relieve congestions and eliminate waste is with the aid of the Sykodoner. It uses Nature's own method for the treatment of the human machine. There are no "after effects." It does not weaken. It does not shock. In fact, the soothing magnetic stresses relax nerves and muscles. An improvement is usually noticed in the very first treatment. The regular use of the Sykodoner will add 10 to 20 years to your life. Poor health is costly in money. Hundreds of hospitals and physicians use and endorse this new and different health principle. One hospital states: "Have not lost a case since using it." A physician reports: "The results obtained are unbelievable to those who have not used this modern appliance." It is a necessity in every home—more important than a piece of furniture or other luxury. It is by far the very best investment you can ever make. For without health, what have you?

Demonstration Free

Regardless what your ailment is, or what else you may have tried, and failed—by all means, see the Sykodoner Man today—at our new beautiful office parlors, 545 N. Greenwood St., Marion, Ohio, and witness the most amazing phenomena of all your life. You will be mystified beyond measure. Yet, it is here in Marion now. No drugs, serum, surgery or rubbing. The most delightful treatment known to man today. It is most reasonable in cost, the most effective in results; and for convenience to use—in the comfort of your own home, there is nothing at all to compare with it. It is the wonder of the age! Don't miss it. You may be thankful you have such an opportunity. Many other communities do not. Demonstration without cost or obligation. Phone 2700, when our representative will call at your own home.

UNEMPLOYMENT TO BE STUDIED AT MEET

Senator Locher Makes Address Before Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen

Cleveland, May 10—Members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen were preparing today to take up unemployment questions at their triennial conference here as the aftermath of Senator Cyrus Locher's address yesterday.

Senator Locher made a point that difficulties in making advances in the work owing to lack of facts. Locher estimated the number of unemployed ranging from 1,847,000 to 7,000,000. The reason for the variance in figures, according to Locher, is the fact that estimates cannot definitely account for the 2,000,000 boys and girls annually reaching the working age.

"The secretary of labor reports that there are nearly 2,000,000 persons involuntary illness, but it is difficult to accept the statement that so many are involuntarily unemployed," Locher said. Although unemployment is economic and not political, I approve a resolution pending in the Senate for a scientific study into mass production, mergers and speculation as causes of unemployment."

YANKS DO BETTER

Record This Season More Impressive, Records Show

New York, May 10—The New York Yankees have been setting a faster pace this season than during the early days of the 1927 American League race, despite the fact that they were out of first place for some time this spring.

The champions have won 15 of their last twenty games this season, in their first 20 starts last year they won 12 games, lost seven and tied one.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At Fort Wayne—Corporal Izzy Schwartz, recognized as flyweight champion in New York State, outpointed Happy Atterton, Indianapolis, (10).

At Montreal—Kid Roy, Canadian featherweight champion, won from Vic Foley, Vancouver, on foul (6)

At Bradford Junction, N. Y.—Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo lightweight, kayoed Stanley Smith, Sandusky, Ohio (2).

At Boston—Harold Mays, Bayonne, N. J., heavyweight, outpointed Matt Adgie, Philadelphia (10).

At Mitchel Field, N. Y.—Pete Hartley outpointed Sig Keppen, Beaver Falls, Pa., welterweight (10).

CAFES AND BARS TO CATER TO "DRYS" AT OLYMPICS

Amsterdam, May 10—Visitors at Olympic Games in Amsterdam this year will not want for liquid refreshments. Ordinarily Amsterdam cafes and bars close at 1 a. m. but the town council, perhaps catering to visitors from "dry" countries, has decreed that they remain open an hour later while the games are in progress.

DEMPSEY REALLY HAS EYE TROUBLE

Condition of Injured Orb Not Serious

Operation Will Be Necessary To Save Sight Sooner or Later

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, May 10—Jack Dempsey really has faulty vision, brought about by the punches he received in the ring. He was leveling when he told the boys that defective eyesight was responsible for his self confessed retirement. Later, upon his arrival in New York, he was fit to laugh at the story. Let him laugh at this one.

Dempsey consulted a specialist for several weeks ago about the condition of his eyes. The writer knows this to be true because the fact was admitted today at the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital where the examination took place. It merely was a superficial diagnosis, as Dempsey was embroiled in the Kearns suit at the time and couldn't arrange sufficient appointments to undergo a course of treatment.

The preliminary examination showed a small cataract, caused by an injury to the retina. This, it is said, is the more aggravated form of cataract and requires great delicacy in the matter of treatment.

Operation, Sooner or Later

Sooner or later, it is believed, Dempsey will have to go under the knife or sacrifice the sight of the eye so affected. Needless to add, a complete cure must be effected before Dempsey can consider fighting again.

His friends here say he had this idea in mind when he consulted the specialist at the hospital for the condition is far from an advanced or even an alarming one at this time. It could wait, they contend, for a more favorable moment, if it wasn't for the fact that it might happen that Dempsey will find he has urgent need of good eyesight in order to find the dotted line without hesitation.

"Lay off that eye stuff," he requested with a laugh when he arrived in New York. "I wish I had the guy who started that story. There's nothing the matter with my eyes. I simply wear glasses sometimes because I don't like the glare of strong sunlight."

Did Not Return

Within 10 days of that statement Dempsey was at a hospital asking what could be done about the eyes he had approved so highly. He said he would return after the suit was settled. He didn't. Perhaps this means Richard has convinced him that there will be no need of him changing his mind this year and, therefore, he decided an immediate operation was unnecessary. Perhaps it means that Dempsey, having made his retirement speech, has decided to stick to it.

What is more likely is that his failure to return was the result of one of those impulses for which Dempsey has become noted. In any case, those who claim to know him best won't listen to any argument that tends to support his retirement story.

They contend that any man who lives at the rate of a quarter of a million dollars a year simply must go back in there for more. I have heard less convincing arguments than this.

A. A. U. WILL PROBE PADDOCK'S STANDING

California Sprinter Says He Is Receiving No Pay in Movies

New York, May 10—The Amateur Athletic Union has ordered an investigation into the amateur standing of Charley Paddock, the crack California sprinter who is expected to be one of America's heaviest point scorers in the coming Olympic games.

The A. A. U. will check Paddock's statement that he is receiving no remuneration for playing in not on pictures and making personal appearances in connection with his film.

SECOND CONTINGENT ON WAY TO OLYMPIC GAMES

New York, May 10—The second contingent of the American Olympic team to sail for action in Europe in the 1928 Olympic left New York this morning on the S S. De Grasse of the French Line. The soccer team consisted of 16 players, a manager and a coach.

STILL PLAYING BALL

Percy Lee Jones, crack southpaw pitcher of the Chicago Cubs, has inherited $500,000 from his grandmother's estate but he is not going to stop playing professional baseball. Since receiving his inheritance in fact, Jones has been pitching better than ever. His remaining within the fold has restored peace of mind to Joe McCarthy, manager of the Chicago National League entry.

RIVAL PROMOTERS TO FIGHT FOR LOUGHRAN

Rickard May Take to Courts To Decide Issue with Fugazy

New York, May 10—The contest between Promoters Tex Rickard and Humbert Fugazy over the services of Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight champion, threatened today to develop into a bitter legal battle. Deserting Rickard, Loughran has signed with Fugazy to defend his title twice within two weeks, but Rickard claims to hold an option on Tommy's ring services until next November. Tex declares he will carry his fight into the courts.

Loughran signed to fight Pete Latzo, former welterweight champion, in a 15 round bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, on May 30. He also promised Fugazy that if he beats Latzo he would take on Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen, Wash., assassin, in the same ring on June 13.

Rickard had lined up Jack Delaney, former light heavyweight champion, for a bout with Loughran at the Yankee Stadium here in June.

Eagles Will Stage Boxing Show Monday

Cincinnati Fighter Will Meet Tommy Milton in Main Go

THE CARD

Main Go—Bert Heathfield, Columbus, vs. Tommy Milton, Toledo, eight rounds at 138 pounds

Semi-final—Jimmy Brown, Cincinnati, vs. Sammy Lupica, Toledo, eight rounds at 130 pounds

Preliminary — Ray Snyder, Marion, vs. Johnny Nagel, Toledo six rounds at 142 pounds.

Curtain Raiser—Battle royal

Perhaps the outstanding attraction of the local indoor boxing card sponsored by the Marion Eagles Lodge Monday night is Bert Heathfield of Columbus who will meet Tommy Milton of Toledo in eight-round main go.

According to his manager, George DeVault—and managers sometimes can mean everything they say—he has not lost a fight in 1927 or this year. In 1927, so the dope goes, the Columbus boy had something like 17 bouts that ended more or less in a knockout fashion.

Included in this list of battles were fights with Joe O'Malley at Columbus going eight rounds to a draw; Billy Dare at Dayton won in 10 rounds. Billy Kramp of Columbus won in the fourth by a knockout, Speedy Reynolds of Cincinnati, seventh round K. O.; Hum Reilly, Portsmouth, kayoe in sixth round.

Milton is known as a very aggressive fighter and has gained the reputation as the "Polish Iron Boy." He has met Don Boyer, Eddie Dyer, Tony Zell, Cuddy DeMarco, Ray Hahn, Louis Lucelle Red Herring Dave Burke Ace Riddle and many others with more or less favorable result.

After Monday night's show the scene of future battles will shift to Crystal Lake Park where summer bouts will be staged under the management of the Eagles' Lodge.

Tom Heeney To Give Latin Lecture in New York

NEW YORK, May 10—He have, boo!"

Should a prohibition enforcement agent hear these sounds issuing from the Fraternity Club here this afternoon, he need not be unduly alarmed. The gurgling noise will merely be a part of a Latin lecture scheduled to be delivered by Tom Heeney, challenger for Gene Tunney's heavyweight title. And the lecture will not be given in jog Latin, but in the real Cicero vintage.

The New Zealander will attempt to scratch from Gene's classic brow the laurels won by the "great intellectual" in his lecture on Shakespeare before Yale students recently. It's all a part of the ballyhoo for the big fight.

[illegible]s who umpired for 22 or 23 [illegible] and who was looked upon as one [illegible] the best, most fearless arbiters in [illegible] history of the game, went out, [illegible]ked with the White Sox, grabbed [illegible] services of Peck and made him [illegible].

"Thank you," said Peck. "But I'll [illegible] your help."

"You can have it to the limit—but [illegible] on me not to interfere," answered Evans. "I'll help—to the limit. [illegible] just keep in mind that you're the [illegible] boss, Peck."

Considerate Manager

They don't make 'em any finer or [illegible] or more thoughtful or considerate than Peckinpaugh. Not more [illegible]. So Peck and Evans gathered [illegible] together what was supposed to be a [illegible] place team and toted it into the [illegible]. And then Evans and Peck, [illegible] they were executives and [illegible] "lorded" it over their men and [illegible] the whip and wear. Simon [illegible]gree, sage, called the players to[illegible] and said:

"Say, listen. Everybody in our [illegible]—and plenty of folks outside of it—think we're a lot of [illegible]hers and hams—without the [illegible]. How about putting over a little joke on them and laughing [illegible] dizzy?"

"Sure," chorused the group. "How'll we do it?"

"Heck onto a superiority complex [illegible] the inferiority thing," responded Evans. "Figure that the dopesters [illegible] all wrong in thinking we're second [illegible] people—and then go out and [illegible] 'em they are wrong."

"And," cut in Peck, "let's play each [illegible] as if the championships of the [illegible] depended upon it. Let's get the [illegible] fixed in our heads that a victory [illegible] April and May counts just as much [illegible] one in August and September."

Everything in Game

"Why it was 20," caroled the group, [illegible] every man threw himself heart and [illegible] into the effort to justify the faith [illegible] Evans and Peck had in them. [illegible] gave the best they had and then, [illegible] over the case of men inspired by [illegible] faith and trust others have in [illegible], they played beyond their normal [illegible].

In moments when a few faltered and [illegible], no rebuke and no censure was [illegible] out by Peck or by Evans. "It's all in the game"—"better luck next [illegible]"—no one could have done better—expressions such as those— and only such expressions—were made.

As a result, those Injuns came north [illegible] happiest, most harmonious baseball [illegible] in all history; a team having faith [illegible] itself, unswerving belief in its leaders and resolved that good as it was—or bad as "experts" maintained that [illegible] was it still was powerful enough to [illegible] smash opposition that might confront it.

The standing of clubs today tells its own story of the Indians—and what they have done. Some take the attitude that theirs is a ball club that is indulging only in a Springtime spurt.

But analyze what the team has done, how it has done it, the consistency of its pitching, the power of its batting, the tightness of its fielding and the spirit it has displayed. And then the conclusion must come that here's a ball club that won't collapse when the race gets tougher and that the club that will win the American League pennant of 1928 is the one that beats the rampaging Indians of Cleveland.

April Advance Orders of U. S. Steel Take Big Decrease

New York, May 10 — The railroad stocks and the specialties made the best records today in a market in which the volume of trading was somewhat smaller than the average of the past week or so.

The call loan rate started the day at six per cent on the board, but recognition of the more plentiful supply of funds in the outside market was afforded in the marking down of the rate to 5½ per cent at the noon hour. There was considerable discussion in the financial district over the prospect of an advance in the rediscount rate of the New York Reserve Bank to 4½ per cent, but nothing on which to base an opinion as to the action of the directors of the bank at their meeting this afternoon.

The 403,000 ton decrease in the April advance orders of the United States Steel Corporation was larger than expected, but this was partly accounted for by the increase in rush bookings for quick delivery. A substantial increase in the bookings for cast iron pipe has resulted from the expansion of municipal improvements in the middle west. Detroit and other cities have bought heavily of pipe from various manufacturers and Milwaukee has purchased 3,000 tons.

New York Central, bettered its best previous price record on substantial investment buying, based on the prospect of an increase in the cash dividend to $10 a year. The Nickel Plate stocks sold up under the lead of Chesapeake and Ohio and Missouri Pacific common and preferred gained about four points each.

WEDNESDAY CLEARINGS AT MARION BANKS $78,068

Bank clearings for yesterday, it was announced at the Marion County Bank today, were $78,068.17, a decrease of $39,444.10 under that of last Wednesday when the clearings were reported as $117,512.27.

Old Sores and Ulcers Can Be Healed!

Many a person has succeeded in healing stubborn old sores and ulcers with applications of Peterson's Ointment after expensive treatments had utterly failed.

Here is a letter well worth reading and if you have a friend afflicted the same, why not send him this?

"About a year ago, I contracted 15 various ulcers on my arm which rapidly grew worse. They extended up my whole arm, one half inch deep. I used several salves, but instead of making my arm better they made it worse. Blood poisoning nearly set in. Doctors told me I would have to have my arm amputated. Finally I read about your Peterson's Ointment in the newspapers and began to use it. After several boxes I began to see an improvement, and within a short time the ulcers were entirely closed up and healed. I am glad to say a good word for Peterson's Ointment and you can refer to me any time."—Mrs. Patrick O'Neill, Buffalo, N. Y.

Nearly every druggist recommends Peterson's Ointment and you can get a good-sized box for only 35 cents.—Adv.

Kale and spinach, each quoted at three pounds for 25 cents, and tomatoes at 20 cents a pound, were price changes listed by dealers today. Both kale and spinach have been holding at 15 cents a pound and tomatoes at 25 cents. An increase in supply is given by dealers as the cause for the drop in prices. Other vegetable prices were steady. New potatoes are holding at two pounds for 25 cents and old stock continues to sell at from 35 to 45 cents a peck. New cabbage was plentiful today and was holding at the peak price of 15 cents a pound. Cucumbers are holding at 20 cents.

Asparagus continues to come into the market in quantities just sufficient to meet the demand. The quality is good and dealers were quoting a price of two bunches for 25 cents. New beets are not so plentiful and the price is holding at two bunches for 25 cents. Home grown rhubarb is supplying a large demand at 10 cents a large bunch. Cauliflower continues high. Fairly large heads were selling at from 35 to 45 cents today.

Low Berry Price

Twenty five cent strawberries were on the market today. The quality, however, was only fair. Better quality fruit was selling at from 30 to 35 cents. The supply continues only fairly large. An increase is being looked for by dealers as the season advances. Pine apples continue to sell at 30 cents. The supply is fairly large and the quality good. Oranges are holding at from 30 to 80 cents a dozen and lemons at 30 cents a dozen.

Retail meat prices were steady today with buying about normal.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Chicago, May 10—The government crop report eagerly awaited on the floor of the Board of Trade by a crowd of traders yesterday, was about as expected on wheat and extremely bullish on rye, according to the Herald and Examiner.

Winter wheat acreage abandonment was placed at 25.1 per cent, leaving 25,838,000 acres to be harvested. The condition was given as 73.8, with a prospective crop of 470,080,000 bushels.

The condition of rye was given as 73.8, with a prospective crop of 39,398,000 bushels.

What influence will these figures have on the market today?

The wheat market was about 10 cents lower at the close yesterday, before the report was issued, than it was on the day the private estimates came out. Prices had broken in the last half hour dumping out longs.

Yesterday wheat, after showing a little early strength, petered out on evening up for the report and broke a couple of cents in the last few minutes.

At the close it was 1¾@2½c ower; corn was down ¾@1c, oats were ½@⅝c higher; rye was down 2⅝@3c.

Dull Day in Pits

Generally the day was rather a dull one marked by evening up purchases and sales in preparation for action this morning on what the government report might bring forth.

Corn showed little strength during most of the session, in spite of high prices that prevailed in the cash market. It acted stale, tired, low in "pep." It needs some stimulus to arouse in the futures market a new interest in life.

Bulls in corn have been patient, but gradually their number has been decreased by the erratic action of the market. The demand for corn is excellent, but big receipts at this market keep reiterating that there is plenty of corn on farms.

Then, too, the belief that the acreage this year will be greatly increased because of abandoned Winter wheat has a depressing general effect on the market.

Buying Is Cautious

The time of year is approaching when a decline is unusally look for in corn even though such a setback comes in a bull market. This keeps buying restricted and cautious.

The market has been unpromising for several days. It showed one or two spurts of strength, but they died out quickly and at the close prices were just about on the bottom.

Today corn may be influenced by the action of wheat. But it may require further decreases in the visible supply and definite knowledge of the acreage and planting conditions to establish a trend in prices.

Oats were very strong, in the face of the weakness in other grains. This market is sometimes a barometer worth paying attention to.

In the cash market wheat was unchanged; corn was unchanged to 1c up; oats were unchanged to 1c up; rye was quiet; barley was steady.

BEREA MAN TALKS TO KIWANIS CLUB

District Governor of Organization Portrays Jesus as "First Kiwanian"

Jesus, as the "first Kiwanian," was portrayed by Clarence C. Fox of Berea district governor of the Kiwanis clubs, in an address before the members of the local club at the Hotel Harding at noon today.

When Jesus taught that might did not constitute right and also called for universal brotherhood of man, the speaker declared, he was laying down the principles upon which the Kiwanis club was founded and upon which it now stands.

Vocational guidance, as being carried out by the club, was declared by the speaker to be one of the worthwhile features of the organization. There are at the present time, 121 clubs in the state of Ohio with a membership approximately 7,800, the district governor told members of the club.

Two violin numbers by Margaret Hoover, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Loreen Ferry, provided a favorable feature of the program. The musical numbers were given in observance of National Music Week. In the absence of G. Farr Lane, president of the club, today's program was in charge of J. C. Woods.

New York, May 10 — The railroad stocks and the specialties made the best records today in a market in which the volume of trading was somewhat smaller than the average of the past week or so.

The call loan rate started the day at six per cent on the board, but recognition of the more plentiful supply of funds in the outside market was afforded in the marking down of the rate to 5½ per cent at the noon hour. There was considerable discussion in the financial district over the prospect of an advance in the rediscount rate of the New York Reserve Bank to 4½ per cent, but nothing on which to base an opinion as to the action of the directors of the bank at their meeting this afternoon.

The 463,000-ton decrease in the April advance orders of the United States Steel Corporation was larger than expected, but this was partly accounted for by the increase in rush bookings for quick delivery. A substantial increase in the bookings for cast iron pipe has resulted from the expansion of municipal improvements in the middle west. Detroit and other cities have bought heavily of pipe from various manufacturers and Milwaukee has purchased 3,000 tons.

New York Central, bettered its best previous price record on substantial investment buying, based on the prospect of an increase in the cash dividend to $10 a year. The Nickel Plate stocks sold up under the lead of Chesapeake and Ohio and Missouri Pacific common and preferred gained about four points each.

Old Sores and Ulcers Can Be Healed!

Many a person has succeeded in healing stubborn old sores and ulcers with applications of Peterson's Ointment after expensive treatments had utterly failed.

Here is a letter well worth reading and if you have a friend afflicted the same, why not send him this?

"About a year ago, I contracted 15 varicose ulcers on my arm which rapidly grew worse. They extended up my whole arm, one-half inch deep. I used several salves, but instead of making my arm better they made it worse. Blood poisoning nearly set in. Doctors told me I would have to have my arm amputated. Finally I read about your Peterson's Ointment in the newspapers and began to use it. After several boxes I began to see an improvement, and within a short time the ulcers were entirely cleared up and healed. I am glad to say a good word for Peterson's Ointment and you can refer to me any time."—Mrs. Patrick O'Neill, Buffalo, N. Y.

Nearly every druggist recommends Peterson's Ointment and you can get a guaranteed box for only 35 cents.—Adv.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Chicago, May 10—The government crop report eagerly awaited on the floor of the Board of Trade by a crowd of traders yesterday, was about as expected on wheat and extremely bullish on rye, according to the Herald and Examiner.

Winter wheat acreage abandonment was placed at 25.1 per cent, leaving 25,858,000 acres to be harvested. The condition was given as 73.8, with a prospective crop of 479,080,000 bushels.

The condition of rye was given as 73.8, with a prospective crop of 39,398,000 bushels.

What influence will these figures have on the market today?

The wheat market was about 10 cents lower at the close yesterday, before the report was issued, than it was on the day the private estimates came out. Prices had broken in the last half hour dumping out longs.

Yesterday wheat, after showing a little early strength, petered out on evening up for the report and broke a couple of cents in the last few minutes.

At the close it was 1⅝@2⅛c ower; corn was down ¾@1c; oats were ½@⅝c higher; rye was down 2⅝@3c.

Dull Day in Pits

Generally the day was rather a dull one marked by evening up purchases and sales in preparation for action this morning on what the government report might bring forth.

Corn showed little strength during most of the session, in spite of high prices that prevailed in the cash market. It acted stale, tired, low in "pep." It needs some stimulus to arouse in the futures market a new interest in life.

Bulls in corn have been patient, but gradually their number has been decreased by the erratic action of the market. The demand for corn is excellent, but big receipts at this market keep reiterating that there is plenty of corn on farms.

Then, too, the belief that the acreage this year will be greatly increased because of abandoned Winter wheat has a depressing general effect on the market.

Buying Is Cautious

The time of year is approaching when a decline is unusually look for in corn even though such a setback comes in a bull market. This keeps buying restricted and cautious.

The market has been unpromising for several days. It showed one or two spurts of strength, but they died out quickly and at the close prices were just about on the bottom.

Today corn may be influenced by the action of wheat. But it may require further decreases in the visible supply and definite knowledge of the acreage and planting conditions to establish a trend in prices.

Oats were very strong, in the face of the weakness in other grains. This market is sometimes a barometer worth paying attention to.

In the cash market wheat was unchanged; corn was unchanged to 1c up; oats were unchanged to 1c up; rye was quiet; barley was steady.

BEREA MAN TALKS TO KIWANIS CLUB

District Governor of Organization Portrays Jesus as "First Kiwanian"

Jesus, as the "first Kiwanian," was portrayed by Clarence C. Fox of Berea, district governor of the Kiwanis clubs, in an address before the members of the local club at the Hotel Harding at noon today.

When Jesus taught that might did not constitute right and also called for universal brotherhood of man, the speaker declared, he was laying down the principles upon which the Kiwanis club was founded and upon which it now stands.

Vocational guidance, as being carried out by the club, was declared by the speaker to be one of the worthwhile features of the organization. There are at the present time, 121 clubs in the state of Ohio with a membership approximately 7,800, the district not told members of the club.

Two violin numbers by Margaret Hoover, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Loreen Ferry, provided a joyable feature of the program. The musical numbers were given in observance of National Music Week in the absence of G. Farr Larie, director of the club, today's program was in charge of J. C. Woods.

Nahm, of Bowling Green, Ky., leader in the Kentucky banking field and prominent in the work of the American Bankers Association, and Robert C. Dunn, Toledo, former Majority Leader of the Ohio House of Representatives, are among the speakers.

Banking ideals, interest rates, the influence of the clearinghouse in making for better banking conditions, business in general, politics, the Federal Reserve System, credit conditions new banking methods and investment policies are among subjects which will be discussed during the three day gathering.

Robert McEvilley, Vice President of the First National Bank, of Cincinnati, and President of the Ohio Association, expects one of the largest turnouts in history. Under his direction, elaborate preparations have been made by the Cincinnati bankers who are acting as hosts to the convention for the entertainment of the more than one thousand guests who are to attend.

Convention sessions begin at 1:30 p. m., Tuesday, May 22, and close at noon, Thursday, May 24.

SAYS U. S. CURSED BY PATRIOT PLAGUE

Humphreys of Federal Trade Commission Speaks Before U. S. C. of C.

Washington, May 10—America is cursed with a plague of self-seeking patriots who are completely obsessed with the delusion that the road to the White House runs through a sewer, W. E. Humphreys, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, told the United States Chamber of Commerce today.

Humphreys has been a center of controversy on the commission, his opponents charging he was one of the men used to "pack" the commission.

Digressing from a eulogy of the trade commission, Humphreys made a slashing attack upon "professional reformers and patriots".

This is a day of reckless accusations, of unmeasured denunciation, of muckraking and mud-slinging, Humphreys said.

"A presidential election is approaching. This is the day when the self-anointed, the holier-than-thou, the reformer for pay, the fanatic and the crack-brained, the publicity lover and the professional patriot are crowding for the spotlight.

"If you were to listen to the clamor you might believe that politics is a vast putrid cesspool, and that the purity of those engaged in it is measured by the scandals that they can hold up to the public gaze.

"In such a state of public hysteria, calm and just judgment is impossible. The innocent are as likely to suffer as the guilty; and the guilty as are likely to go free as the innocent."

Humphreys said that the condition is a temporary epidemic and will largely pass with the election.

WILL GIVE PLAY

Green Camp, May 10—Members of the Rebekah Lodge, of Morral, will present a play, "A Fortunate Calamity" at the town hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Missionary Society of the Baptist Church.

GOITRE NOT A DISEASE

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. 609, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Write him today.—Adv.

Reflects Tomorrow's Vogue

Chassis leader of the day supreme in Beauty too

The New Hudson's distinction in vogue is adding thousands of beauty lovers to the hosts who want its supremely brilliant performance. And all are delighted to find, with all its other economies, a gasoline saving never attained by a car of its weight and size. Any new Hudson owner will be proud to tell you all about this new advantage.

The consistency of Hudson leadership is but the performance of its first principle, resolution and tradition—to always lead in value.

Thus it was the first car at moderate price to give truly great performance — smoothness and reliability — the industry's standard today.

Thus it was the first in the development of American closed cars, and such smart turnouts as the Town Car and Speedster.

The Coach—a Hudson invention—turned the entire industry to closed cars.

The Super-Six principle and its companion invention that turns waste heat to power, is the most efficient combination in development and transmission of power, within our knowledge.

The engineering and manufacturing resources responsible for these great advancements are expressed again in Hudson's new leadership of mode.

To see, examine and ride in the new Hudson Super-Six is to revise your whole knowledge of automobile values.

Hoover Apparently in For Uncomfortable Heckling on Part of His Opponents

Secretary To Be Called Again Before Senate Committee Following Clashes During First Inquiry; Check Up on West Virginia Scrap

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Star Staff Correspondent

Washington, May 10 — Herbert Hoover appeared today to be in for some more uncomfortable heckling on the part of "the allies" who are seeking to prevent his nomination by the Kansas City convention.

Hoover spent an hour on the witness stand before the Senate Campaign Fund Committee yesterday, answering questions concerning his organization, and not infrequently clashing with its members. Today it developed that the cabinet candidate is to be summoned again for specific questioning as to the circumstances which prompted his decision to enter the West Virginia primary against Senator Guy D. Goff.

The Hoover managers, they point out, have designated as "stalking horses" all those favorite sons who have arisen to challenge the progress of the Hoover candidacy in their respective states.

Hurl Charges

Today the charge of "stalking horse" was thrown back at Hoover by Senator Goff, and the Senate committee is so interested in it that it was decided that another examination of Hoover is necessary.

Hoover testified on the stand that "a certain senator" telephoned him that Goff declined to permit the West Virginia delegates to announce second choice in the primary. He declined to give the committee the name of the senator, saying he did not want to involve anyone else in the matter, but the committee is curious and it was planned today to go after all the details.

Will Reveal Name

"A senator did call me and say that Hoover would not enter West Virginia if I would agree to throw the delegation to him," said Goff. "I told him he should tell the secretary that I was not a 'stalking horse' candidate, and that if he wanted to ride a hobby horse he would have to get somebody else to be the horse. That's why Hoover entered the West Virginia primary against me—because I wouldn't agree to throw the delegation to him.

"I refused to be a stalking horse for Mr. Hoover. In my opinion, such a proposition was an attempted barter of the West Virginia delegation, and was, in effect, nothing more nor less than attempted moral bribery."

Goff declined to name the senator who approached him, but asserted that "I shall certainly tell if the committee asks me."

Ohio Orator On His Way To Troy Zone Finals in National Oratory Contest

Delbert Eugene Nixon, Buckeye Champion from Jefferson County, Starts Eastern Invasion; Speaks Friday Night; Seven Zones with 10 Students Represented

(Special to The Star)

Canton, May 10—Delbert Eugene Nixon, 18-year-old Toronto high school senior, and all-Ohio oratrical champion, accompanied by an official of his school and a representative of the Brush-Moore Newspapers, left for Troy, N. Y., today to engage in a seven-state competition against ten young men and women for the privilege of representing the northeast section of the United States in the National Oratorical Contest.

The Troy contest is tomorrow evening.

Winner at Troy not only becomes a national oratorical finalist, but will be included in a party of eight high school students representative of the entire nation, which will be taken for an eleven weeks' tour of Europe this summer.

The National Oratorical Contest finals will be presented May 25 in Washington, D. C., where five of the seven judges of the United States supreme court will decide the competition. The national winner will represent the United States next October in Washington in the International Oratorical Contest, when representatives of seven foreign countries will compete.

Young Nixon displayed the same serene confidence today on the eve of his departure for Troy that was noticeable in Canton two weeks ago on the eve of the all-Ohio competition, which he won by virtually an unanimous decision of the three judges. He received two first place awards and one third.

There will be ten young men and women competing at Troy. Massachusetts will have two and New York state three contenders, while the other states will have one each. The states to be represented other than Massachusetts and New York, are Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Vermont and Maine. Identity of six of the ten competitors, forwarded to the Brush Moore Newspapers, follow:

Delbert Eugene Nixon, Ohio; Harry Lammons Glase, Ottawa Hills high school, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Miss Roberta F. Powers, Morrisville, Vt.; Roswell D. Kirby, Albion, N. Y.; Miss Alice Gibbs, Saratoga, N. Y.; Harriet E. Welden, Richfield Spring, N. Y., and Elizabeth Cecelia Sterman, Portland, Me.

Nixon's oration is based on The Development of the Constitution. He has revised it to some extent, and has been laboring with its presentation since he won the all-Ohio contest here two weeks ago. It is Nixon's purpose, he said today, to be so letter perfect and to have the oration in hand so completely that it will be possible for him to deliver his very best efforts at Troy.

Arrangements have been made for presenting the Troy zone contest in Music Hall in that city, said to be one of the outstanding auditoriums in north-central New York. The orators and their companions will be quartered at the Hendrik Hudson hotel during their stay in Troy, where they will be guests of The Troy Record, sponsor of the competition in its home city.

Governor Smith said in reply to a [illegible] as to whether he knew about [illegible] contests in other states [illegible] he did not know anything about it [illegible] although he believed there were [illegible] contests in West Virginia and [illegible] Wisconsin or Minnesota.

"did not remember anything about these states."

"How about Iowa?" Steiwer asked.

"I couldn't say that I know a single person in Iowa."

"Who has charge of your campaign in California?"

"I don't know."

"Do you know any personal contacts in Oregon?"

"I don't know anybody in Oregon."

Governor Smith was asked if he had made personal political efforts in the South.

"No, I have not. My trip to Asheville, N. C., had no political significance attached to it. It was made to give me a much needed rest. However, I shook hands with everybody in North Carolina—except the leader, Senator Simmons."

Senator Steiwer then said that an anonymous communication received by the committee charged that a large fund was being spent "on behalf of your campaign in North Carolina." The senator asked Smith if Robert Lathan was authorized to spend money in his behalf in North Carolina.

"Not by me," answered the governor. "I met Lathan once while I was in North Carolina."

Questioned About Suite

Steiwer then questioned the governor about his suite in the Hotel Biltmore. The governor said he had lived in the hotel for two years.

"Is the Biltmore owned by the New York Central Railroad?"

"I don't know. The property is in the hands of the railroad but the hotel management is in the hands of Mr. Bowman."

"Do you know if your rent is provided free by the New York Central Railroad Co.?"

Senator Steiwer apologized for this line of questioning but said the information was contained in another anonymous letter to the committee.

"I don't know," Smith replied sharply. "I don't think the New York Central owns the hotel. I think Mr. Bowman does."

The governor said Van Nammee had made arrangements for Smith's use of the Biltmore Suite.

Colonel Chamberlin's lecture Wednesday night closed the airport day activities. The United States-to-Germany flier told of his great transatlantic flight, paying tribute to those airmen who have failed in attempts to span the ocean and praising other aviators who have accomplished the same feat. He predicted a great future for commercial aviation, pointing out advancements made since the World War. He estimated that in a few years transatlantic flying will be much safer. Development in airplane manufacturing, better instruments, more weather data and the radio are some of the factors which will join to make trans-oceanic flights safe, he said.

Raise Funds

The "seed" for Mansfield's airport was sown about a year ago when Major Young spoke at a Civic Club meeting. Mayor Ports states. The project was backed by a Chamber of Commerce committee at the suggestion of the mayor. City Council recently purchased the 180-acre plot with the understanding that the Chamber of Commerce will grade the fields, construct hangars and otherwise make the airport suitable for use.

While three fields of the airport are available for use now, a great deal of work on the site is contemplated by the Chamber of Commerce, according to President John Pierce. Money to carry on this work has been raised during the past week in the airport campaign, which came to a close Wednesday with the dedication of the new airport.

Court of Appeals Gives Decision in Controversy Over Rates

hearing the case Judge George B. Scofield dismissed the petition of the plaintiff.

The case was subsequently taken to the Court of Appeals. Final arguments were made before the court by attorneys for the two companies on Oct. 31, 1927.

In its opinion, which accompanied the verdict, the Appellate tribunal held that interpretation placed on the disputed clause by parties to the contract was not involved in the case. The opinion of the court was based on the interpretation placed on such contracts by the State Utilities Commission, which corresponded with the interpretation of the C., D. & M.

The case was fought through the Common Pleas Court and the Court of Appeals by W. P. Moloney for the C., D. & M. and by Fred E. Guthery and J. Malcolm Strelitz of the law firm of Guthery, Strelitz & Guthery for the Marion Steam Shovel.

Before studying the opinion of the Appeals Court, Mr. Strelitz was undetermined this morning as to the future course to be taken in the case.

FIREBUG HUNT NEAR BUCYRUS

State Deputy Arrives To Aid in General Search for Pyromaniac

Bucyrus, May 10—A "firebug" is being sought by county and state authorities today following the fifth of a series of barn fires that have occurred in this section during the last 10 weeks.

With the fifth fire, which this morning destroyed the barn on the P. E. Dobbins farm, a scare has been thrown into the community here and the farmers of this section.

Loss caused by this morning's fire is estimated at $5,000. The first fire occurred March 7, another March 13, a third March 14, the fourth April 20 and the last of the current series early today.

Eight horses, 50 hogs, numerous chickens, many tons of hay, farming equipment and quantities of grain have been lost in the five fires.

State Deputy Arrives

Deputy State Fire Marshall Frank Henry is here from Columbus to make an investigation.

Authorities believe that the barns were set afire by a pyromaniac.

Four of the fires occurred on adjoining farms. All were within a 12 mile radius of this city.

Officials of an insurance company at Columbus notified Prosecuting Attorney yesterday that they also plan to conduct an investigation.

a huge box, at the same time warning her that the beautiful chest is to remain unopened.

Pandora's curiosity is aroused, however, and despite the efforts of her companions to restrain her, she opens the box and looses the evils of hate, disease, deceit and sorrow, interpreted in several cleverly costumed dances by the high school girls.

The second act takes place in the "dark glade" where Ignorance, impersonated by Miss Jane Guthery, sits brooding among her evils. Pandora gayly wanders there and, stung and prostrated by evil, is rescued by Hope, who bears her to the Court of Wisdom, which, in the third act, is represented by flowers and the throne upon which Wisdom is seated. A series of dances by girls representing the three graces, fresh air, water, sun and athletics follows and the pageant reaches a climax in the combat between the Evils and Good, the Evils being defeated and Pandora saved. The dances of enlightenment, faith, hope, love and joy, depicting Pandora's return to happiness, brings the pageant to a close.

The principal roles in the dance pageant were enacted by Miss Martha Tschanen, as Mercury; Miss Katherine Zachman as Hope; Miss Guthery, Ignorance; Miss Dorothea Creasap, Wisdom; Miss Genevieve Stowe, Enlightenment; and Miss Mary Titsworth, whose solo dance at Water was one of the most beautiful in the festival.

Miss Cleo Creekbaum was presented in an interpretative dance as Pan, God of Nature, just after crowning of the May Queen and preceding group dances in which the girls were dressed to interpret flowers of various countries, bluebells of Scotland, white lilies of Italy, edelweiss of Hargary, tulips of Holland, chrysanthemums of Japan and American Beauties.

Piano accompaniments were played by Misses Edith Brown, Martha McGee and Dorothy Zieg with Miss Anna Von Endt playing the violin.

In order to reach the railway station to flee the city upon a train provided by the Japanese the Americans had to pass through a zone over which light artillery shells and machine gun bullets were flying.

The Chinese Nationalist claim that more than 500 Chinese were killed in the Japanese bombardment that followed the refusal of the Chinese to accept the Japanese ultimatum at Tsinan.

Rockefeller's Demand for Stewart Resignation Hailed by Senators

Washington, May 10—John D. Rockefeller's demand for the resignation of Col. Robert W. Stewart as chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana was hailed with approval today by members of the Senate Investigating Committee.

"It may be regarded," said Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, the Teapot Dome prosecutor, "as gratifying evidence that the business world is awakening to the gravity of the offenses revealed by the investigations. If the public conscience had been aroused earlier by expressions and actions such as Mr. Rockefeller's, the outcome of the criminal prosecutions might have been different."

"Let us hope that Standard stockholders find the attitude of Mr. Rockefeller contagious," said Senator Gerald P. Nye, Republican of North Dakota, chairman of the committee which exposed the Continental Trading Company's Liberty Bond "slush fund." "If the investigation has been a tonic to the oil business, such as to cause the stockholders to insist upon a house-cleaning and demand honest business men and honest officials, the investigation has been well worth while."

Senator Bronson S. Cutting, Republican of New Mexico, who as a member of the committee clashed frequently and heatedly with Stewart when he was on the stand, described Rockefeller's action as "highly encouraging and absolutely necessary to restore public confidence in the management of the oil industry."

Of the 75 to 100 reading certificates which will be presented the rooms at the end of the year, 30 will be given to the first grade.

Several pupils of the school have their art work on display at Central Junior High School, and the parents of the children were urged to attend the showing.

Plans were completed for a basket picnic to be held the last day of school. The attendance banner for the evening was awarded the fourth grade.

"Echoes from the National Convention at Cleveland," were given by Mrs. Fout, a delegate to the convention.

A meeting of the executive committee of the club will be called in the near future.

TRADE PACT ON TAX CUT BILL

Agree To Support Administration If Federal Estate Tax Is Retained

Washington, May 10—The insurgent bloc of the Senate has entered a "gentleman's agreement" to support every provision of the administration's $385,000,000 tax reduction bill, in return for a pledge that the federal estate tax will be retained, International News Service learned today.

The agreement will enable the administration to obtain Senate approval of its own bill, while defeating the Democratic substitute plan for a $330,000,000 slash in taxes.

The agreement was entered only after the Democrats refused to make a similar alliance with the Insurgents, according to a spokesman for the bloc. The Insurgents, it was added, even offered to support the Democrats on an amendment, reviving tariff rates, but the proposal was rejected.

Coolens Makes Alliance

The administration-Insurgent alliance was negotiated by Senator James Couzens, Republican of Michigan, it was said. By this action, Couzens was responsible for insuring Senate approval of a bill keeping tax reduction within the $212,000,000 limit fixed by Secretary Andrew W. Mellon, while at the same time, insuring defeat of Mellon's pet proposal for repeal of the estate tax. It was a 50-50 break.

The alliance was necessary to insure adoption of the administration program as the Senate now lines up with 47 Republicans, 46 Democrats, and one Farmer-Laborite. The Insurgents swing from 10 to 14 votes at all times.

Daily Proverb—"To be a fool or knave in print doth but bring the truth to light."

"I emphatically deny that America is the land of the almighty dollar," says Otto H. Kahn, and he's everlastingly right in denying it. As a matter of fact, the American dollar has lost its power to such an extent that it has actually become diffident.

In withdrawing from the race for the Democratic nomination for the presidency, Senator Walsh remarked: "There just don't seem to be any burning desire on the part of the people for my nomination." Too bad, Tom! It's a burning shame that all that partisan investigation should go for naught.

Chinese army deserters and a peasant bandit organization murdered 5,000 men, women and children, an American among them, when they looted the missionary station of Kingmen, a city of 60,000 inhabitants in Hupeh province. The bandits were of much the same class as those over whom some of our pacificists mourned so greatly when our troops over there refused to let themselves be killed without resistance.

A student at George Washington university is reported to have taken his life, led so to do by the reading of melancholy poetry. A lot of so-called poetry doubtless has made many editors feel like committing suicide, and it wasn't of a melancholy trend either.

American exports to Argentina lead those of any other nation, having shown a marked increase in the last five years. At last the United States appears to have gained the long-desired foothold in South American trade.

Eva Le Gallienne says "the really intelligent people who care for the theater are people of moderate means." Had Eva been trained in the school of politics, she couldn't have played to the majority any more directly than that.

Two bandits held up a Chicago man as he drove up in front of his home and forced him to drive them to a suburb, where they robbed him of $230. Before driving off in his car, they gave six dollars back to him for taxi fare. Possibly the bandits up there are endeavoring to propagandize the view that visitors to Chicago's coming big fair will be robbed with consideration.

Europe and Asia in Turmoil.

The day's news again features unrest in the Balkans and the Far East. In the Far East Japan and China are at loggerheads. In the Balkans it is Roumania and the Carolists who are responsible for the trouble of the moment.

The Japanese-Chinese trouble may be said to be incipient. Annually on the anniversary of Japan's so-called thirteen demands of China, there are anti-Japanese demonstrations. They have, in the past, died down after this day of humiliation is passed.

But, on the other hand, there may come a time when the Mikado's kingdom will find itself in conflict with the Chinese—and if that time ever does come, regardless of the power of the Flowery kingdom, Japan will realize it is a war that is a war.

The Chinese have long been considered a suffering people. But of recent years there has been an awakening in China, and today that nation of untold millions of people, is shaking off the shackles of tradition, and should it ever break over against Japan, or any other nation, for that matter, the world will sit up and take quick notice of a people fighting for principles to which they are entitled.

There is civil strife in China. Until this is put down and the warring factions mend their ruptures, China will not be in a position to unite against any common foe.

In Roumania where Carol still hankers for the throne he abdicated and which now is occupied by his six-year-old son, the Carolists have demanded and been refused, the resignation of the Bratianu regime. This likely means the beginning of at least a passive, if not an active, resistance against the organized forces of government.

And in Roumania anything may happen. A bomb in the capital of one or the other Balkan states set off the World war, or at least provided the excuse for starting the conflict.

People of the North and South and Central American continents are not appreciative of the peace and comfort and freedom from turmoil in which they live. There are petty jealousies on this side of the Atlantic, of course, but we reason them out and do not let our feelings run riot with our better judgment.

Fancy a discredited crowd in the United States demanding the immediate resignation of the Coolidge administration. That is done in some of our neighboring countries, but little by little even they are coming to realize the folly of a system of government no more stable than the whims of the anti-government faction.

The quicker Europe and the Far East comes to realize that the system of government in the western hemisphere, based on quality, is the sound form of government, the quicker there will be fewer uprisings and less and less strife in those foreign nations.

He Omits Christ.

An author named Will Durant, long-recognized as more or less of an iconoclast in Biblical as well as literary matters, is abroad with a list of ten persons whom he calls the greatest thinkers of all time. He has omitted the name of Jesus Christ from his list, along with the names of several others.

People who disagree with Durant's views and his list of the best thinkers of all time, need not quarrel with him. But it is an open question whether he is in a position to speak with authority, any more than any other man or woman, on the question of what is required to make a man eligible to rate a position among his thinkers.

Durant says Christ is not classified in his list because He was a thinker secondarily, being primarily a moral force, a reformer, or a man of action. None will dispute this.

But the life of Christ on earth is filled with episodes which disclose the man to be a thinker of the first caliber, although He was given to little or no pondering at critical times, seemingly having made up his mind in advance, after due deliberation, and to rely at the moment on action.

Christ was the author of and inspiration for many of the classic epigrams of recorded history—He taught during His life on earth—taught truisms which have withstood the attacks of ages, which today still are in universal use wherever there is a civilization, and which will live through time immemorial—yet Durant can not class Him as a thinker.

Durant's list includes Confucius, Darwin, Plato, Aristotle, Spinoza, Copernicus, Francis Bacon, Newton, Kant and Voltaire. Moses, Caesar, Socrates and men of that caliber were left off Durant's list, along with Christ. Some of them Durant calls myths, others he dismisses with the declaration that, like Christ, they were reformers, not thinkers.

But any student of the Bible or early Roman history will disagree with Durant in some instances. It is the common belief that men like Caesar, for instance, while living hectically and fast, and furious, were nevertheless given to considerable thinking of a serious nature. If they were not thinkers, then what little we know of early-day history is all wrong, or wrongfully gathered.

In this day and age, many of us so utilize the day of rest as to force us to take half the following week to recover from it.

An officer of the Berengaria reports that the movie shows and music halls of London are hard hit by the dog races over there which are drawing crowds ranging from 35,000 the first five nights of the week up as high as 60,000 on Saturday nights and 85,000 on holidays which goes to show that the taste of the Britishers is looking up a bit.

Miss Boll Will Try a Flight.

Miss Mabel Boll, known as the queen of diamonds, who recently took up aviation in a serious way, is abroad with an announcement that she will endeavor to cross the Atlantic this summer in a non-stop flight, thus establishing her as the first woman ever to succeed in the attempt.

In the next few weeks, Miss Boll says, she will leave Dawn and Curtiss field behind her in a Fokker plane, with its nose turned toward Ireland and the Old world.

Miss Boll has surrounded herself with a pilot who is worthy and a plane which should give her little trouble. The rest she is willing to leave to her life-long luck.

But Miss Boll will find before she proceeds very much farther with plans for this trip that it requires considerable more than luck to bring it to a successful achievement. Others have tried it and have left much to luck, only to pay with their lives for this trust in omens.

Spanning the Atlantic by air is a stupendous undertaking. It is something which requires more than a ship and luck. No one will begrudge Miss Boll success in her daring adventure, but every one will hope that she discards the proverbial luck charms and in their place adopts common sense in preparing for the flight.

Stefan Osusky, Czecho Slovakian minister to Paris, told a gathering in the French capital that we Americans are the most misunderstood people on earth and that he liked and admired us. He's never going to gain much favor in the knockers' chorus over there.

A Texas representative has introduced a bill providing for Saturday half-holidays for all government employes save those of the post-office department. Isn't there danger that such a law might be taken as indicating government domination by the banking interests?

To help British automobile makers, Australia has raised the tariff duties on American cars, the increases ranging from $30 to $125. Opponents of the protective tariff have told us a lot about British free trade, but it's worth noting that British trade is free only when Britain profits by it.

An exchange unloads the old joke about the man who asked for a left-handed hammer. Not so funny! There's such a thing as a left-handed riveting hammer, and there's a local merchant who has given away hundreds of left-handed tinecups.

George Bernard Shaw is quoted as saying that extraordinary interviews with him "are like pictures by Rembrandt: they sell so well that a considerable trade in forgeries has sprung up." It's hardly probable that George will ever be mistaken for a man who hates himself.

The editor of a St. Louis publication has been given a prison sentence of two years and the woman publisher has been fined $1,000 by a federal court for sending obscene matter through the mails, the objectionable article referring to Aimee Semple McPherson. THE DANGER OF KEEPING IN THE MIDDLE OF THE ROAD

Ailments Common to Girls.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Young girls have a critical period to face from about the time they enter high school till they are eighteen years of age. During this time they may lose their rosy cheeks and become white, almost waxy in complexion. Sometimes the skin is greenish in color. There may be no emaciation or loss of plumpness, but the general appearances of the skin is far from normal.

On the slightest exertion there is loss of breath and inability to proceed with any physical task. Palpitation of the heart and frequent fainting spells are other disturbing symptoms. The power of the red blood cells to carry oxygen is materially lessened. This leads to the heart disturbances.

There may be the most remarkable perversions of appetite. It is not uncommon for girls to like pickles, but the girls I am discussing eat chalk, lead pencils and all sorts of indigestible and harmful things.

The heart disturbances mentioned may become so serious that "murmurs" develop. On this account and because of the general weakness, there is no ambition and indeed no strength to do any kind of work.

Dyspepsia, constipation and sometimes ulcers of the stomach may develop. The muscular weakness naturally affects the muscles of the stomach and intestines and digestive troubles follow as a matter of course.

There are marked changes in the composition of the blood. The red blood cells are decreased in number and size and they fail to carry the vital red substances. This lowers the normal function of the blood.

All these symptoms and conditions make up a disorder which is called "Chlorosis." It comes from a Greek word meaning green, and the name is well given to this condition, which has been called the "green sickness."

Worry, overwork, either physical or mental, lack of food and bad hygiene are the chief causes. Exposure to wet or cold may mark the beginning of the trouble. When girls learn the importance of warm and dry feet they will escape many ailments.

The disease is more common among city girls than in the country. Overcrowding, bad lighting and stair climbing appear to influence its development. Girls who go from the country with its freedom to the city with its confinements, are apt to suffer from chlorosis.

In the treatment, relaxation, mental freedom from care and responsibility come first. Nutritious food, gentle exercise, fresh air day and night, sunshine and baths will do wonders. The simple, hygienic life is the secret of cure.

The complications should be given general and remedial treatment. With care and observance of the physician's orders complete cure should be had in a few months.

With the Editors.

CLEOPATRA COMES INTO HER OWN.

Literary judgment in England has again bowed to the artistic genius in Shakespeare by finally including his "Anthony and Cleopatra" in the list of plays for the Cambridge literary tripos, or examination. To quote a writer in the English Fortnightly Review, "The morals of ancient Rome and Egypt shocked the national taste. It was easier to write Cleopatra down as wanton, a courtesan by temperament, a voluptuary, than to examine the evidence."

But now the same writer hails Cleopatra as being "not only the greatest of his—Shakespeare's—heroines, but the culmination of feminine characterization in all literature."

"Not until Shakespeare met Cleopatra in the pages of Plutarch and the company of Caesar and Anthony did he find an opportunity for expressing in one woman the qualities of all his women—the wit and perversity of a Beatrice, the freshness of a Rosalind, Cressida's duplicity, Imogen's pervasive charm, the sweet womanliness of Hermione, the tragic fire of Constance, and the swift and melting sympathy of Cordelia."

This sounds like a rather large order, but the writer undertakes to prove by the progress of the play that the queen in Egypt was all these things, possessed of all these qualities. Her love was "free from other elements generally mixed with it," and toward the close of the play the "greatness of character and courage" that were also hers come to their highest point in her final decision to "make death proud to take us."

It is natural that this age, which prides itself upon its intention to do justice toward womankind, should at least judge Cleopatra leniently.—Detroit Free Press.

THE PAROLE IDEA IS WRONG.

The Illinois committee suggests a permanent change in the makeup and pay and importance of the Illinois parole and probation board. That may be worth a trial, to discover if any such board, however carefully chosen and however distinguished, can be kept absolutely free of political influence in the face of highly organized crime using politics as an ally either by purchase or intimidation. To abolish the parole system would require, for a time at least, a large increase in prison capacity.

But even if the system can be kept free of politics the fundamental objection to it will remain. It is a concession to the theory that the criminal is a misled, misenvironed, misborn, diseased individual who must be cajoled, kindly treated, set on the right track, befriended, reformed and released theoretically a safe member of society. It is a denial of the theory that the person in whom society should take the most interest is the potential victim of the criminal or of his imitator and that to deter that criminal or that imitator from crime is a matter of throwing fear into him by stern and efficient pursuit, trial and punishment.

The parole system attempts to substitute "reform" and kindness for the wholesome effect of fear and the wholesome knowledge that commission of a crime will almost certainly be penalized by a fixed term in state prison. Yet it has not been proved that fear is an outworn servant of society. In Europe it is pretty generally proved that fear is the best "reformer" of all. It prevents crime. The parole system makes criminals by the promise of lenience and then treats them kindly for accepting the invitation.—Grand Rapids Press.

The Easter Sun.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

Here is something that carries back to olden times:

"Will you please explain the rising sun's conduct on an Easter morn? I had heard people say that every Easter Sunday the sun dances as it rises, provided that it is visible. Now, last Easter, 1926, my wife and I were up to watch it. I will not say that it really dances, but I saw some mysterious moves as if the world was being blest, and even noticed the shadows move on the house. It doesn't take place exactly as the sun pierces the horizon, but after it's up, probably in five minutes or half an hour. I was simply mystified, having been reared a Catholic, but having given a great deal of time to Darwinism in the last few years. At times I've felt a good deal like the soldiers mentioned in the Gospel when the stone was removed at the resurrection. Please take notice on Eastern morn.—T. C., Uxbridge, Massachusetts, March 26."

It would be well to notice the sun on some other morn also, to see whether curious light effects are confined to the Easter sunrise. However, this is so beautiful a tradition, so full of poetic sentiment, that one hasn't the heart to catalogue it with other, more vulgar superstitions.

"But, oh, she dances such a way
No sun upon an Easter day
Is half so fine a sight."

Thus sang Sir John Suckling nearly three centuries ago, and many other poets have found the charm of the old legend. But early skeptics were not lacking. Two hundred and eight years ago, as Brewer reminds us in his "Curiosities of Popular Customs," the sun himself "settled the question" of his dancing in this fashion as related in "The British Apollo:"

Question—
"Phoebus, old wives say
That on Easter day
To music of the spheres you caper,
If the fact, sir, be true,
Pray let's the cause know,
When you have any room in your paper."

Answer—
"The old wives get merry
With spiced ale and sherry
On Easter, which makes them romance,
And whilst in a rout
Their brains whirl about
They fancy we caper and dance."

My Uxbridge correspondent's statement that he did not see the sun "exactly dance," but that he saw some "mysterious moves," recalls the old Scottish tradition that on Easter morning the sun would "whirl around like a mill wheel and give three leaps." However, they looked to see this phenomenon by catching the image in a pond, or in a pail of water, where a little undulation, slyly or unwittingly imparted, would give extraordinary movements to the reflected sun.

The very ease with which the alleged strange conduct ascribed to the Easter sun can be accounted for both psychologically and by natural causes tends to place this innocent legend in the sanctuary where repose the Mother Goose Tales, safe from the rude hand of science, which does not even seek to intrude there.

It is its inborn alliance with all that is tenderest and most poetic and romantic in human nature that has made Christianity the brightest and most humanly sympathetic of religions. If Christ had come with a conqueror's sword Christianity would have been an earlier Mohammedanism. And but for the histories of the Marys it could never have mastered the hearts of mankind, alike barbarian and civilized. Its legends tend to link the divine with the human, and God with nature in its most familiar aspects, on a plane attained by those of no other religious system. For a proof you have but to consider the inspiration that they furnished to the great Italian painters.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

Cute in a Baby—Awful at Three—and it's Dangerous

by Ruth Brittain

Thumb sucking does look sweet on a baby but it is disgusting in the three-year-old and sometimes it hangs on until fifteen or sixteen! The habit may cause an ill-formed mouth or induce adenoids; and it always interferes with digestion. Pinning the sleeve over the hand; attaching mittens, or putting on cardboard cuffs, which prevent bending the arms at the elbows, are some of the ways to stop the habit.

Another bad habit—irregularity in bowel action—is responsible for weak bowels and constipation in babies. Give the tiny bowels an opportunity to act at regular periods each day. If they don't act at first, a little Fletcher's Castoria will soon regulate them. Every mother should keep a bottle of it handy to use in case of colic, cholera, diarrhea, gas on stomach and bowels, constipation, loss of sleep, or when baby is cross and feverish. Its gentle influence over baby's system enables him to get full nourishment from his food, helps him gain, strengthens his bowels.

Castoria is purely vegetable and harmless—the recipe is on the wrapper. Physicians have prescribed it for over 30 years. With each package, you get a valuable book on Motherhood. Look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper so you'll get the genuine.—Adv.

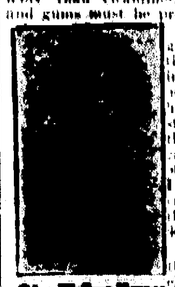
It's pleasant to know that your glistening white teeth fascinate and allure. But we who make an earnest study of health and youth preservation demand more than cleanliness. The enamel and gums must be protected.



Edna Wallace Hopper and the bottle she uses

To assure the greatest precaution against wearing away of precious enamel I have had to understand personally the effects of the various ingredients of the tooth paste I use, which is called Quindent, the "five-in-one" dentifrice.

I am convinced that it not only cleanses and polishes the teeth perfectly, but it purifies the breath and, above all, counteracts the ever-present acids. This last protection is due to one of its most valuable properties—milk of magnesia, which I used to use separately as a mouth wash before expert scientists had produced Quindent.

Quindent is not a biting, sharp dentifrice. Its action is sure and mild. The taste is pleasant and I advise you to leave a slight coating of it on the gums and tongue which is effective for hours.

You can obtain Quindent at any toilet counter, 50 cents for a large tube.—Adv.

Meditations of a Married Woman

—BY HELEN ROWLAND—

The Absent Cure

MY Daughter, if thou wouldst hold a man to thee forever, I charge thee SEPARATE thyself from him, occasionally.

For, verily, a wife's presence is a sedative or an irritant; but her absence is a stimulant which stirreth his curiosity and piqueth his imagination.

Go to. A man observeth not the living room rugs until they have been taken up, nor noteth the dining room curtains until they have been taken down. Then doth he MISS them mightily!

Likewise, his wife and his stenographer are as the hall console and the office clock, only parts of the ensemble, until one of them departeth for her Summer VACATION. Then, doth he find himself helpless, even as one that hath lost his best molar.

So long as his wife is always in her place at the dinner table and his stenographer always at her desk in the morning, a man taketh their devotion granted. Only when the vacant chair faceth him, doth he realize their importance to his well-being.

Yea, verily, so long as his wife greeteth him at the door at six p. m., a man observeth not her moods whether they be sad or smiling, nor her garments whether they be becoming or dowdy.

But let her be late or absent when he returneth, and his eyes do not miss the flush upon her cheek nor the chicness of her new hat. And lo, he LOOKETH at her, for the first time, with the light of curiosity in his glance.

For a little absence bringeth a woman to a man's attention as no amount of daily devotion hath ever done.

Behold, a lover's imagination is self starting. But a husband's imagination must be cranked up and started with a sudden JOLT.

And how better can a wife stir the motor of his curiosity and ignite his interest, than by removing herself from his horizon and causing him to WONDER.

For, alas, a good wife is like unto a good tooth, whereof a man taketh no thought, until he feareth that he may lose it. And no man realizeth the value of either until the ache and the emptiness left by their departure causeth him to pity himself.

Then, be of good cheer, my daughter. For now approacheth the good old Summertime, when a little matrimonial vacation causeth a husband's eye to grow keener, his step to grow livelier, and his kiss to wax warmer!

And wherefore shall a man wait until he readeth it on her tombstone, to learn how much he should MISS his wife.

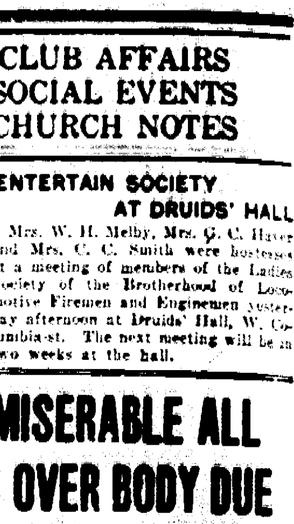
MISERABLE ALL OVER BODY DUE TO RHEUMATISM

Local Lady Suffered Intense Pains But Says Konjola Completely Relieved Her



MRS. FRANK D. SMITH

"I was a victim of rheumatism for ten years and Konjola was the only medicine that relieved me of the suffering," said Mrs. Frank D. Smith, 38 Allyn street, Akron, Ohio.

"It seemed to me that my whole body was a solid mass of ache and pains. At first the misery centered in my limbs and then it affected my shoulders and arms. Sometimes I could not walk or raise my arms over my head. All during the day I was subject to awful dizzy spells and headaches due to a sluggish liver. Besides these troubles my stomach bothered me and I couldn't eat anything without suffering afterward. This trouble was brought on by constipation but strong laxatives only had temporary relief on me.

"I heard about the wonderful relief other Akron people were receiving by taking Konjola so I decided to try this medicine. At first I could notice the rheumatism easing up and now that I have finished the treatment I haven't a single ache or pain in any part of my body. In a short time the stomach and liver trouble completely disappeared and I hardly realize I ever suffered so much. I gave Konjola all the credit for my health and shall recommend it every chance I get."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in the city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stump & Sands Pharmacy, and is also being sold by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

A Story of the California Forests

BY PETER B. KYNE

(Copyright, 1928, Peter B. Kyne by arrangement with King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHAPTER 45

WHEN Monica Dale arose the following morning, the San Dimas, despite the recent fire, never looked more beautiful and Bogus had never been so lonely. With the baby and Anthony Garland gone, and with a nurse at hand to care for Bob Mason, Monica's life automatically reverted to its old allegiance—the safeguarding of the San Dimas National Forest. Even that was a perfunctory duty, a habit for the nonce, for with the telephoneline out of order she could not have been able to report a fire had she seen one. With the line out of order she felt, too, more isolated than she had ever been. Even the presence of the nurse accentuated more than stimulated this condition.

Monica was not accustomed to the society of women. She had known few women and those few, all older women, had plagued her with much advice and unsolicited and quite frank queries regarding her private affairs, particularly those involved or suspected to be of a sentimental nature.

She had grown to womanhood, and the stress and strain of her surroundings had forced her to accept life from a masculine rather than a feminine viewpoint, a breach had gradually developed between her and the mountain women of her acquaintance.

Ann Dale and Uncle Charley had put upon her the imprint of their peculiar personalities—a high courage, a high sense of honor, a certain aloofness, a certain confidence in her own strength and ability, a transcendent optimism. She never asked questions. Rather, she listened and looked!

When the nurse, mystified at having been met by the county sheriff and brought out to Tantrum, then met by a forest-ranger and brought up to Bogus, discovered she had a silent, burned man to care for, the situation became too acute for her feminine curiosity.

Who was her patient? she asked herself. Why was the sheriff of the county interested in him to the extent that he had paid her two weeks' salary in advance and promised to come out and pay her two more weeks in advance, provided the exigencies of the case required that she remain that long?

Why did he not remove the patient to a hospital? He had told her the patient's name was Mason Lee, yet she had heard him call the man Bob. Who was he? Who had brought him up to this lonely lookout station after he had been burned?

Was he the husband of this lovely, grave mountain girl? She looked at Monica's left hand and saw no wedding-ring. To whom, then, did the baby belong?

Her woman's intuition warned the nurse that tragedy overlay this lonely outpost, but with the tact that comes of training and long experience she forbore asking questions—wherefore Monica knew she was thinking, that she was suspicious.

And when Sheriff Bentley came the next day and departed with the baby, the tension was very great indeed. The nurse followed the departing sheriff down to the gate and asked him bluntly what was what.

"You're paid well to nurse that man," Bentley replied shortly. "All this mysterious business is my business. Suppose you let it go at that. And, whatever you do, don't ask Miss Dale any questions. If she feels like telling you things she'll tell them. If she doesn't you'll wish you hadn't asked her. Good afternoon, ma'am!"

But women seldom heed a man's warning. This may be due to a number of causes, but principally, perhaps, to their contempt for the intelligence of the stronger sex. No woman depreciates her own intelligence to the point where she believes the handling of any situation, however delicate, is beyond her control, and Mrs. King was no exception to this rule. She had waited patiently more than 12 hours to be taken into Monica Dale's confidence and now she would wait no longer. The instant she returned to the cabin she said:

"I will be frank with you, Miss Dale. This case presents unusual aspects. Who is my patient?"

"Would he get well any quicker if I told you?" Monica asked mildly.

"No, but then, one wonders——"

"Yes, one does. But it isn't a fatal affliction, I hope, although there is a legend to the effect that curiosity once killed a cat. Do you expect me to tell you the relation of your patient and that baby to me?"

The nurse evaded the question. "The sheriff's interest—the mystery of it all——" she began.

"Well, you asked Sheriff Bentley about it, didn't you?"

"Yes." The nurse was outmaneuvered and red of face.

"He answered you, did he not?"

"Yes, of course."

"But his answer wasn't satisfactory, so you have come to me. Mrs. King, if Sheriff Bentley or I believed it would help Bob Mason to get well by satisfying your curiosity about him, we would tell you. We do not regard that as part of your professional business."

"The sheriff told me his name was Mason Lee." Quick as lightning the other woman struck, and glowed with an inner satisfaction when Monica's face told her the blow had landed. And then, in one revealing moment, she knew. "I read about a Robert Lee Mason, an escaped convict, in a newspaper I purchased on the train coming up. The paper stated that he was cornered in the San Dimas national forest, and his capture was momentarily expected.

"Well," said Monica steadily.

"He is a murderer, and the sheriff, who is probably an old friend and neighbor, is secretly aiding him. In all probability he doesn't want to recapture him. He has been making a magnificent gesture!"

"Get along with the end of the story." Monica begged patiently. "What do you intend doing about this extraordinary situation?"

"I think it is my duty to report it to the proper authorities."

"I agree with you. Well, Mrs. King, when your services are no longer required here you will be quite free to make your dutiful report."

"And, in the interim," this murderer will be in condition to continue his flight from justice."

"His friends all hope so."

"I'm sorry, but I cannot seem to be a party to this conspiracy, Miss Dale. I shall have to resign this case."

"You will leave Bogus when I grant you permission, and not a second before. Do you understand me, Mrs. King? I'm the law on Bogus and I'd advise you to obey the law."

The nurse paled. "How dare you?" she demanded quiveringly.

"Because I'm strong enough to manhandle you if you betray me. Now, you stay put. Hear me? I do not like catty women. Do your job and ask no more questions. If you attempt to leave Bogus I'll ride after you and drag you back at the end of a riata." She smiled her grave, kindly smile. "Now that we thoroughly understand each other, let's be friendly and nice."

"I think you're a bad girl, Miss Dale!"

"There is no longer any novelty for me in that thought. I'm not a bad girl, and that knowledge so satisfies me that I must decline to defend myself. Frankly, you're talking through your hat. Be quiet. A doctor wouldn't betray his patient. He would remember his oath of Hippocrates to refrain from gossiping about whatever of a private nature he stumbled upon in the course of his duties."

The nurse, rebuked, flushed and was silent.

"That telephone will be connected in a day or two," Monica reminded her. "When it rings, under no circumstances are you to answer it."

"But if I do?"

"I'll wear out a quirt on you, Mrs. King."

A look of fear and repugnance—hatred, almost—convinced Monica that her bluff had worked. She walked over to the radio and tuned in for the benefit of Bob Mason.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store.—Adv.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

You know a clear skin comes from within. Correct the cause—through the blood—and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

Thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking a few bottles of S.S.S.—Nature's own tonic for restoring the appetite—building strength—and cleansing the body of so-called skin troubles.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

—purely vegetable

"I was troubled with pimples and blackheads. I took a course of S.S.S. It cleared my face and body. I think S.S.S. is wonderful. I have told many friends about S.S.S. and they say the same as I do."
—Miss Ruth Ellis, 100 Ellis Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

On The Remnant Counter

WITH THE CLERK

BRAKES OR BREAKS

BRAKE TESTING of automobiles is to be an annual event in Ohio, one learns from the public prints.

For despite the low number of motorists taking advantage of the opportunity to check up on heir two and four-wheel stoppers Ohio State Auto Club officials see much good in the plan.

As one of those who felt it his duty to dash over to Mt. Vernon-av and have his brakes tested, this clerk of the Remnant Counter would like to suggest that some street, avenue, boulevard, thoroughfares, etc., other than the muchly traveled Mt. Vernon-av be selected for the brake testing. And, perhaps it would not be such a bad thing to have several men on duty.

Traveling up and down the avenue eight to 10 times a day during the period of brake-testing sent shivers down our spines enough times to give us the permanent heebie-jeebies, if that ailment is not out of style.

Down the street at more than the suggested 20 miles an hour, and the lawful 25 miles an hour, would come a puddle-jumper. The sign loomed. The yellow lines across the pavement appeared. Sudden thought. Test the brakes. Ungh! Jolt! And, she stopped or she didn't stop. And, a dollar to a doughnut some poor fellow behind the brake-tester was sweating blood trying to get his car either stopped or around the machine in front. There were several instances of bent fenders and dozens of cases of shattered nerves.

On a less-traveled street that brake-testing is a great thing, but on Mt. Vernon-av or any other busy thoroughfare, it is more dangerous than its results warrant.

TOO LATE!

JUST think, after all these years of riding our trolley lines on tracks that jumped all over State and Center-sts, the rails are now smooth as satin—just before the service is withdrawn. That's the irony of fate—as the writers say.

A human churn for several years the tracks were a joke to most of us. We recall one day during race season. Not feeling overly well in the first place, we hopped the rattler for the Fairgrounds. After the route had been covered we staggered off the car, saw the races and then telephoned for She Who Guides Our Destiny and asked for an automobile ride home.

But, it is different now. The N. State-st cars glide along once over the railroads. And, the tracks in W. Center-st, temporary rails to permit the repaving of the street, proudly vaunt themselves in the face of the old, decrepit and hills-and-dales-like ruts.

And, just when we would enjoy them we learn they will be used only for interurban service. There's that irony of fate line again.

WHY NOT?

[illegible] clerk often has wondered why Marion's talent hasn't organized a Little Theater or Community Players organization.

[illegible] many outstanding [illegible] talent in this city. [illegible] pressed desires through acting, directing and generally feeling about a stage.

In Bucyrus the Little Theater Guild last month presented its first play, "The Intimate Strangers," by Booth Tarkington. Mansfield has an organization, the Community Players, that is two years old. Phillip Barry's "You and I" and Lulu Vollmer's "Sun Up" were both given this year. "The Dover Road," by A. A. Milne, is another Mansfield offering.

Galion's Drama Workshop Players concluded their second season late in April with three one-act plays after having given "The Enemy," "The Brat" and "The Youngest."

Lima has an active organization presenting plays every month. Urbana, with a population of only 5,000 persons, has its Community Players with 1,000 active and associate members and its own theater. Of the Urbana Players more later.

If there is sufficient sentiment in Marion for such an organization, and we believe there is, this Remnant Counter will gladly call a meeting of those interested.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TOMORROW will be Friday, and it is still warm. I didn't go to sleep last night for thinking about the look on Feebles's face when the man gave her a lifter with his foot thinking she was a boy. The last I remembered I was still laughing. None of it would have happened if the Lost Bag of Tripe had not sat on the limb whilst he sawed it off. It is a good thing sometimes that he is not so very brite.

When I had let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth we went over to the ball lot after breakfast to play a game of ball before school started. We were chosing up sides with a bat, and my hand was on top and Peanuts said it stuck out over the top of the bat. So the Lost Bag of Tripe got another bat to hammer on the top, and if it hurt my hand so I had to take it away it would be Peanuses first choice. But just as the Lost Bag of Tripe brang the bat down someone pushed Peanuses head and the bat came down on the back of his bean and sounded like it had hit a gourd. The Lost Bag of Tripe skun out and Peanuts fell down on his face and we were all scairt. A lot of people came running, and Old Miss Scanlun odid carry Peanuts in to Miss Farmer's because that was nearer, and she was putting water on his face and holding stuff for him to smell of, and there was a clang outside and a couple of men with white coats came in [illegible] a little cot bed. They put [illegible] and carried him out and put him in the ambulance and drove off with him, and the men [illegible] all [illegible] hang the gang and [illegible] stood all [illegible] at it [illegible] come up [illegible] and [illegible] all [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and
